

St. Eustatius “Statia”

Old Gin House

June 16-23, 2018

The Old Gin House Hotel and restaurant is a quant historic waterfront hotel on an ever so interesting island.

The hotel features well appointed rooms ensuring a comfortable and relaxing stay. The Hotel has a beautiful historic bar, restaurant, ocean terrace, pool and lobby. We've reserved Oceanview and Gardenview rooms.

The moment you arrive in St. Eustatius, locally known as ‘Statia’, you immediately get that typically “old-school” Caribbean feeling. There are no big crowds at the airport. It lays 33 miles south of St. Maarten and has a very rich and interesting history.

This tiny island is blessed with a generally pleasant dry and sunny climate. Light northeast trade winds bring the island a constant cool breeze. St. Eustatius is untouched by the big development companies. It's a safe and friendly island where time stood still. You can enjoy cozy restaurants and bars in Oranjestad, St. Eustatius' one and only town. This is the place to unwind, read that book you always wanted to read and to dive the beautiful Statia waters.

We'll be diving with Scubaqua which offers low diver to Divemaster ratios, unlimited dive time within the no-decompression limit and free Nitrox.

Exploring the many different ecosystems of St. Eustatius is diving in constant changing environments. Almost all of the 36 official sites are moored to save the reef from anchorage. We also love to drift from one site to the other to show you the true hidden treasures.
